DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

Drawings

2. New corrected drawing figure 1 in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) is required in this application because in block 13 of figure 1, "singnal" should be changed to --- signal---. Applicant is advised to employ the services of a competent patent draftsman outside the Office, as the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office no longer prepares new drawings. The corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The requirement for corrected drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 1-13 are allowed.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: The present invention comprises a signal detection method used in a spread spectrum communication system for detecting a spread spectrum signal, comprising steps of: a) receiving an input signal; b) converting said input signal into a correlator output signal with finite number of values; c) selecting a maximum value and a minimum value from the magnitude of said values respectively; d) dividing said maximum value of magnitude of said values by said minimum value of magnitude of said values for obtaining an enhanced peak value of said correlator output signal; and e) comparing said enhanced peak value of said correlator output signal with a predetermined threshold, wherein said input signal is detected as said spread spectrum signal if said enhanced peak value of said correlator output signal is one of larger than and equal to said predetermined threshold, whereas said input signal is not detected as said spread spectrum signal if said enhanced peak value of said correlator output signal is smaller than said predetermined threshold. The prior arts fail to teach d) dividing said maximum value of magnitude of said values by said minimum value of magnitude of said values for obtaining an enhanced peak value of said correlator output signal; and e) comparing said enhanced peak value of said correlator output signal with a predetermined threshold, wherein said input signal is detected as said spread spectrum signal if said enhanced peak value of said correlator output signal is one of larger than and equal to said predetermined threshold, whereas said input signal is not detected as said spread spectrum signal if said enhanced peak value of said correlator output signal is smaller than said predetermined threshold.
